HANCOCK AND TILDEN.

First Authentic Account of Their Great Interview.

From the Burlington Hawkeye.

"You see, Mr. Tilden," remarked the General, confidentially, "we are going to make a lively campaign of this. We will take the offensive from the start, and we must whoop her up."

"Oh, yes!" said the old man in an impressive whisper, "that's all right; it is hooped up now."

And he smiled at the General as one who should encourage another to proceed, but in a different direction. The General echoed the smile faintly, but hopefully, and hitched his chair a little nearer.

"You see," he went on, with kindling enthusiasm, "I am not much of a politician, and have everything to learn in the management of these things, but I know we must get ahead of them at the start. You see?"

"Oh yes, yes," the old man replied, in a whisper more intense than before. "Oh, yes, that's all right. We've got a head all ready. It's headed up too; he! he! Hooped up and headed up; you're right; yes, you're all right."

And again he smiled, a smile that he seemed to think was full of comfort for his listener. The General looked at him earnestly and a little shadow of anxiety crept over his answering smile.

"You understand, Mr. Tilden," he said, presently, "that I need your advice and friendly counsel?"

The old man bowed again. The General looked up more hopefully, and went on:

"You see what I am trying to get at—"

"Yes, yes," chuckled the old man eagerly; "I know; that's what they're all trying to get at; yes, yes, they're all trying to get at it. Oh, yes."

And in the pleasant mood which seemed to have come upon him he made as though he would have prodded the General in the ribs with his bony forefinger, but suddenly drew back. The General looked worried, but returned to the charge with patient good nature.

"I don't want to make any bungling work at the start," he said, "because—"

"No, no; no, no," interrupted the old man, earnestly; "no bungling this time; you're right there; it's all right, never was bunged up tighter; a bung starter as big as a maul wouldn't start it; oh, yes, you're right there; no bungling this time."

And the General fairly started, for as he listened, he thought he heard the old man whisper, under his breath, as a sort of appendix, "not a darned bungle." He set his teeth hard, and looked in the old man's half-closed eyes.

"Mr. Tilden," he said, "I will be frank and open with you—"

"Open?" said the old man, with an interrogation point in his face. "Oh, no, no. Hooped up. Didn't you say hoop her up, and didn't I tell you yes, it was hooped up, and headed too? Oh, no, not open. No, not open. N-n-o t-t o-p-e-n. Oh, no!" he added with grave and earnest deliberation.

And then he looked at the General as though he didn't exactly understand him. The cold perspiration stood out on the General's brow in beaded drops.

"Mr. Tilden," he said earnestly, "listen to me. You cannot, you must not, misapprehend me. Do not stop me; hear me through. You cannot delay or avert the inevitable; you cannot stave off—"

"No," the old man said with startling promptness and discouraging energy. "No, that's so. You're right there again. Not a stave off. Tight as a drum." And he repeated, with comfortable unction, "Tight as a drum; tight as a drum. Not a hoop loose or a stave off."

The General turned uneasily in his chair, and barely repressed a groan. As it was, he sighed, and with an appealing glance into the old man's eyes, he said,

"This increases my fears and doubles my responsibilities. This adds—"

"What adze?" asked the old man quickly, and with a suspicious glance at the General's side pocket, as though he feared a concealed weapon or a mechanical instrument. "What adze?" he repeated in apparent alarm.

The General rose in despair, abstractedly rubbing his hat the wrong way. As he stood near the door, he said:

"I will leave you now. I will call again, and may I not trust that on an another occasion you will listen to me more intelligently and enter more zealously into my plans? May I not hope, on—"

"No! the old man said, with a mild emphasis, "you may open nothing here; not even a watermelon, not a postal card. I have a client who is—"

He was suddenly silent, for he was alone. Down the darkening street he saw the magnificent outlines of a superb figure, clad in the splendid uniform of the senior Major-General of the United States Army. The superb figure was thrashing the air with its splendid arms, and now and then wildly kicking at a tree box with its magnificent legs. The flickering street lamps shone on a handsome face convulsed with a variety of emotions, among which flat-footed wrath was prominent. And the old man could not distinctly hear the remarks that fell from the finely chiselled lips, but now and then the breeze of the summer night wafted back faint echoes of reservation profanity and foothill objurgations and West Point expletives.

The old man checked a sigh and turned it into a smile.

He leaned forward to gaze at the disappearing tableau, and listened for further remarks.

But solitude reigned in the street, and only silence mocked his listening ear with voiceless quiet.

The superb was gone.

A SUPPRESSED PLANK.

Very few people have any conception of the power of human speech upon the minds of men. It is doubtful if there is ever a word spoken without effect. There is no friend so dear, no one in whom we place such implicit confidence, but that if we hear a slight word spoken of them it modifies more or less our feelings toward them. The lowest scrub on earth cannot whisper a slander about the best man living without leaving an impression upon his honor. It is this which gives such force to newspapers. They have the power, day after day, for weeks, months and years to iterate and reiterate, turning an electric light upon every side of a subject, and viewing it from every standpoint. When this power is abused, the honest man's protection is the reaction which takes place in public opinion. A newspaper which states facts is doing good service. One that lies cuts its own foundation from under it, and loses its character and influence, while it makes friends for its victims. The GAZETTE made as a suggestion to the Democratic party early in the summer, that it put into its platform the old saying, "A lie well stuck to is as good as the truth," and although they suppressed the plank, yet their papers are carrying out the principle. They have ground out old exposed lies against Garfield by the thousand ems, believing that some one would be so ignorant as to swallow them and vote for Hancock. The Credit Mobilier charge is the only one that remains to them, and it is so thin that they have to keep the best Republican talent on Democratic papers to make anything of it. Even if it was true, our candidate's character would be like a great big plate glass mirror, with a fly speck on it, along side of a common windowpane-looking glass.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

William H. English is reputed in Indianapolis, Indiana, a grinding skinflint and an unprincipled usurer. The New York Tribune has had a special correspondent there looking up English's record. The correspondent found a number of respectable and intelligent citizens whose transactions with English convinced them that he is "a wolf in human form," a stony-hearted, unfeeling money grabber.

The deacon of the first Baptist Church of Jackson, Mich., offered a young lady the protection of his umbrella on a rainy Sunday, and kissed her on the way home. Somebody witnessed the act, there was gossip about it, and the church investigated the matter. The deacons found that Brother Palmer "was simply indiscreet in said matter."

A pedestrian named Dobler has covered seventy-eight and seven-eighths miles at Buffalo in twelve hours, in a go-as-you-please match. This is the best twelve-hour time on record. An average speed of over six miles and a half an hour, kept up for half a day, is something wonderful.

They have an effective way of treating drunken Indians in Pioche. When the Sheriff of that town finds an Indian drunk, he cuts off the offender's hair. As a redskin prizes his hair as much as a Chinaman his cue, this punishment tends to keep the Indians in that section sober.

As the report of the Board of Examiners is only signed by two members, we suggest that Attorney General Murphy should be heard from on the matter. We think the people would like a minority report, giving his opinions and a little cold law on the subject.

The committee in San Francisco holds several hundred dollars that were contributed for Reno sufferers a year ago. We suggest that the meeting to-night, request the committee to forward the money to the Eureka sufferers.

After its losses of a year ago only one fifth of Eureka's loss by fire was covered by insurance. How much would be saved if Reno had such a fire, and what is to prevent it. Property that is not worth insuring and business that is not worth advertising is not worth bothering with.

Somebody dropped a $5 piece into the contribution box at Tuscarora last Sunday. Of course it was a mistake, and the minister advertised his readiness to return the coin. He gave it to the first applicant, and twenty-seven other claimants have since appeared.

A Carson man was tapped for dropsy the other day, and five gallons of water taken out of him. Who can believe that so much water could be found in a Carson citizen? It must have been "half-and-half."

To add to her other misfortunes, Mrs. Alfred Chartz lost her dwelling and furniture, valued at $700, on which there was no insurance, by the late fire at Eureka.

Five murders in St. Louis in twenty-four hours. Even the Bodie folks will say that is doing pretty well. Can't be beat on the Pacific Coast.

Adelaide Neilson, the great actress who has just died, was once a bar maid.

Ole Bull, the great violinist, is dead.

HANCOCK'S BRUTALITY.

Inhuman Treatment of Soldiers Under His Charge.

From the San Jose, Cal., Mercury.

The late Dr. Alfred L. Castleman of this city, who was surgeon of the Fifth Wisconsin Regiment, in 1863 published a book entitled "The Army of the Potomac; a diary of Unwritten History from the Organization of the Army by General George B. McClellan to the Close of the Campaign in Virginia, about the last day of January, 1863." From this book, a copy of which we have before us, we glean the fact that General Hancock was not merely the ornament of dress parade, whom the soldiers nicknamed General Strut, but a coarse and unfeeling man. We copy several extracts which will be found very interesting reading by the many friends of the doctor in this section. In the fall of 1861 Dr. Castleman's regiment was transferred to a brigade under Gen. Hancock, whom he speaks of as "an officer of fine appearance, but with rather a narrow forehead." A few weeks later he says of him: "Brigadier General Winfield Scott Hancock is the very antipode of General Smith. He is fully as long as his name with the title prefixed, and as for quiet and courtesy—oh, fie! I saw him come on to the field one morning this week to brigade drill. He was perfectly sober.

A COLD-HEARTED BLUSTERER.

He is one of those paradoxes who believe that one man, at least, is to be known by his much talking. He became excited, or wished to appear so, at some little mistake in the manoeuvering of this brigade, and the volley of oaths that rolled and thundered down the line startled the men with the suspicion that they were under command of some quarter-master, lately made general, who mistook men for mules, and their officers for drivers * * * Wherever he has been, he has certainly acquired a perfect intimacy with the whole gamut of profanity." The doctor describes the cold-hearted indifference of the General to a detachment of the regiment to which he (Castleman) was attached, which had been appointed to guard the General's headquarters. The men were almost wholly unprotected in a fearful winter storm, while he was cosily enjoying his wine within with his friends. But as an illustration of the of Gen. Hancock the following is a sample. On the 14th of May the command arrived at the Pamunkey river. The doctor continues: "One circumstance occurred on our arrival here this morning, showing the difference between officers and men, and so characteristic is it of the man that I can not refrain from recording it in my journal as 'food for thoughts' hereafter. We found some negroes drawing a seine in the river here. Some soldiers made a bargain to draw for them, fixing a price and paying for it. The men had been on short rations of hard bread and salt meat for several days. Being compelled to carry their provisions in their haversacks, they can carry nothing but this simple food, while the officers, having transportation at command, take with them all the comforts of the country. Well, the net was cast, and while the drawing was going on, General Hancock rode down to the beach and watched the operation with much apparent interest. The draught was nearly at shore; the hungry mouths and watching eyes of the soldiers were being gratified by the anticipation of a joyous feast, for it was now beyond doubt that the net was cast in a propitious moment, and was coming in loaded with herring, shad and eels. But what right had common soldiers to indulgences like these? The General's mouth watered too. The instant the draft was brought to land the bayonets of the General's guards bristled all around, and the General's capacious bags received every fish. Off they were carried for himself and friends, without even a nod of acknowledgement."

BLIND TO SUFFERING.

In August, when the weather was very hot, another example of the General's inhumanity was afforded. Dr. Castleman writes as follows: "This morning we started early. The day has been intensely hot, the dust almost insufferable. General Hancock was in command of his brigade. We had made a rapid march of about ten miles. The men were fatigued, footsore and thirsty. In many instances, two or three having to depend on one canteen, it was soon emptied, and when we stopped to rest after the ten mile march, we were in sight of a large spring of beautiful water. But the General ordered that not a man leave the ranks to fill his canteen. It was hard to bear; but the men submitted in patience until they saw the soldiers from other brigades passing from the spring with their canteens filled. This was too much, and they began to cry out, 'Water, water.' Immediately the General dashed among them, proclaiming 'Mutiny,' and demanding the offenders. Of course, no one could tell who they were. He then turned upon the regimental and company officers, 'd—d them to hell,' and spent some time in consigning the soldiers to the same comfortable quarters. After he had got them all labeled for that kingdom, he told them their officers were 'not worth a G—— d——,' and having exhausted his vocabulary of gentlemanly expletives, calculated to encourage subordination, he called the men into line and put them through the evolutions of a brigade drill for about half an hour. And thus they rested to resume the march. These men—this remnant of a fine army who had been dragged through the putrid swamps of the Chickahominy till they were more like ghosts then men—were thus rested, thus drilled, thus marched, thus abused.

THE "SUPERB" SOLDIER.

In commenting on these brutal traits of character in General Hancock, the Cincinnati Gazette of July 16th very aptly says: "If sneering at sick men in hospital, if robbery of soldiers' food, if profane denunciation of the commanders under him and utter disregard of every instinct of humanity, are parts of chivalrous strategy, the less we have of it the better. If such are the graduates West Point turns out, no one will regret to see it soon among the institutions of the past. The late war was fought by American freemen, who voluntarily sacrificed home, and even life, for the welfare of their country. There were no unwilling conscripts, forced into battle at the point of the bayonet; but had they been a horde of recaptured deserters, they could hardly have been treated more contemptuously than by General Hancock. He may run well at the South, but the votes he will get from those who served under him will be wonderfully small."

Bodie's Population Decreasing.

From the Bodie Free Press.

The number of people leaving Bodie as compared to the arrivals, is three to one. The town can stand a decrease in population at present, as work is slack and the prospect of more men being put on, for a month at least, is not very encouraging.

At Lookout, Modoc county, there is considerable excitement caused by the discovery of a gold bearing quartz ledge. It was discovered by W. W. Bedford and Arthur Barnes of Adin, and nearly a score of claims have since been located.

A Virginia City youngster, who had been before Justice Moses on some trivial charge, caught His Honor's untagged dog the same day and put it in the pound. The Justice had to pay $5 to recover the animal.

When the Emperor William went to the art exhibition at Dusseldorf, and all was solemn silence, a parrot remarked: "Oh, my God, how thirsty I am."

Stop That Cough

With a sample bottle of Kaiser's German Elixir. This is the most wonderful cough remedy ever introduced, being mild, yet positive in its action and soothing under all circumstances. Old and young may use it with perfect security. It is rich in the medicinal properties of tar, wild cherry and horehound. Ask your druggists. Messrs. Osburn & Shoemaker about its merits. They sell large quantities of it and say it supercedes all others. The genuine bears the Prussian coat of arms and the facsimile signature of Dr. Kaiser on the wrapper and has his name blown in every 75 cent bottle. Samples 25 cent. Large size feb2-d&w

As a Commission Agent,

I buy or sell for you on commission in the general market of Sacramento—any kind of Merchandise or Real Estate.

Say thus—whatever you cannot buy or sell yourself, at your home market, or that which you do not wish to get or dispose of in person, either here or where you live, I will manage for you here. Any order which you entrust to my care will be strictly considered business, and carefully guarded as such. No matter how large or small, or what nature your business may be, if the thing can be sold, or the business be done at will manage the order to your satisfaction, and at very moderate charges. All inquiries for prices and pleasure orders must be accompanied with stamps to receive attention; and all large transactions are considered cash, unless previously otherwise stipulated. Prepaid samples of seed, grains, wool, and so on, received and placed on market. As a specialty I select Agricultural Machinery and Implements. Mechanics' Tools and Hardware, in all its branches. I have followed this business, as salesman, solicitor and collector, three years with Hawley & Co., and over twelve years with Baker & Hamilton. Houses rented and rents collected. CARL STROBEL, —During Fair week a special train will be run between Virginia and Reno. Excursion tickets will be sold at a low figure.

A Pleasant Business.

Mr. Hall is gaining ground in the fruit business. He keeps his goods in nice shape and always has plenty of all kinds. If an article is to be had in the markets, he is sure to have it. He got in about a ton of mountain fruit this morning. He has water and nutmeg melons, apples and peaches, pears and plums, sweet potatoes and other vegetables. He also has candies, nuts, lemons, etc. He sells as cheap as any one and is well satisfied with the reception he has met with from Reno people.

Desert Roses.

One or two rather pretty pictures may be seen on the road to Carson although the sight does not please the farmers. A good deal of sun-flower seed comes in California wheat. Some of it was sown in Washoe valley last year, and the volunteer crop of sunflowers (Hilianthus) stands as thick as the wheat did last year. Two fields of about 40 acres are now all in bloom and the contrast with the brown mountains around is not unpleasant.

An Escape.

Pechner the tailor had a narrow escape from fire last night. A lamp stuck on the end of a gas bracket, broke a joint in the fastening and fell down in the show window. Everything was ablaze in an instant. Pechner flung a blanket around it quickly and smothered the fire.

District Court.

The District Court reopened this morning, Judge S. D. King presiding. Motions and orders have occupied its attention to-day. The court will probably close to-morrow, to renew its business in September.

Called Meeting.

A number of citizens request that a meeting be called for to-night, to meet at Justice Young's office, to devise means to assist sufferers by the Eureka fire.

A HELL OF FLAME.

Particulars of the Great Fire at Eureka—Half the Town Destroyed--The Loss About $750,000--Insurance $150,000.

The following account of the conflagration at Eureka is from the Sentinel of yesterday: "At about 11 o'clock A. M. yesterday an alarm of fire was sounded, and the entire populace was seen in motion. A dense cloud of smoke was seen to issue from the rear of Mrs. Polin's fruit and vegetable store on Main street, just south of the Odd Fellows' hall. In two minutes several wooden buildings in the immediate vicinity were enveloped in flames. The fire seemed to make unprecedented headway from the very start. The firemen were promptly on hand, and two streams were applied but without visible effect. The wind was blowing a gale from the southward, and continued to blow as only it can blow in these mountain canyons, until the flames had run their course. It would have been an awful sight at night; it was terrible in the broad glare of day.

THE FIRE BACKED UP

against the wind to the southward to Gold street, crossing Buel and in turn reaching to Spring and Paul streets, its course and scope being almost identical with the great conflagration of April, 1879, differing only in these particulars; it went a little further south and stopped a little short of the old mark on the north. Possibly 300 houses, many of them business establishments, were destroyed yesterday. Also some of the finest and most costly private residences in town were consumed. A space equal to fifty acres of the very heart of the town was swept. In this vast area only a half dozen buildings remain to relieve the widespread ruin and desolation. Jack Perry's corner, Tommy Douglass' building, the Foley-Rickard block,

PAXTON & CO.'S BANK,

Jake Cohn's store, Dr. Schneider's drug store, Kayser's clothing store and C. Lautensclager's Corner saloon, are the only buildings left. All else was literally licked up. The Leader office, Odd Fellows' Hall, Theatre, International Hotel, Vanina & Co.'s billiard saloon, A. M. Hillhouse's elegant residence and the M. E. Church were among the prominent buildings destroyed. The Jackson was gutted but still stands. The International is melted almost level to the ground. It was due to the most heroic efforts that the fire was confined to the east side of Main street. The entire line of building on the west side is charred and many of them badly damaged. The exact origin of the fire is unknown. The first any one knew the flames were far advanced in the rear of the building already noted. When the fire had a scene ensued which beggars all attempts at description. Hundreds of men, women and children, totally panic stricken, frenzied, in fact, with fear, were fleeing in all directions for safety, some of the cooler ones bearing with them cherished articles of personal or household goods. Those on the lines of Spring and Paul streets scaled the rugged mountain to the eastward, while persons further down the flat sought refuge in the direction of Nob Hill. In the meantime, drays and wagons were dashing hither and yon in the utmost haste to bear away valuables from the doomed district. Above all, the shouts of the firemen mingled as they heroically battled unsuccessfully with the devouring element. Finally the sun went down on a stricken and exhausted people."

The fire destroyed nearly one half of the town. Its course was over nearly the same district as that ravaged by the fire of April, 1879. The Sentinel is satisfied that the burnt district will be rebuilt, but the process must, in the very nature of things, be slow. A rough estimate of the losses places them at $750,000, covered by about $150,000 insurance. Eureka's flag staff, one of the finest in America, went down in the fire. It was of Oregon pine and about 130 feet high.

A 16-Girl Picnic.

Sixteen young ladies of Reno have been picnicing to-day on the Riverside grounds. They went unaccompanied by gentlemen, and the affair is understood to be strictly feminine. Shortly after arriving at the grounds, the girls, having no other amusement on hand, went wading in the river. It was an interesting sight to see them with their skirts tucked about their waists, venturing into the swift current, and splashing about in the water. Now and then a shrill shriek would arise, as one of them would sink down a few inches in some hole in the river bottom and wet her garments. The wading was much enjoyed both by the waders and the unseen spectators. Croquet, cards and candy helped to while away the afternoon, and the girls will probably return safe and sound and in high spirits this evening.

A Farmer's Friend.

Evans Bros. have a power hay press that seems to be a success. They can put from eleven to thirteen tons in a car, and in long freighting that is a big object. Evans says he saved $1,200 on his crop last year. He can ship to Battle Mountain and Eureka and save four or five dollars a ton. The machine was built in Quincy, Ills., and cost here about $400.

HOW SHE CAUGHT HIM.

The Conversation that Mrs. Harris overheard at the Door of her Husband's Office.

A Reno lady who, for the sake of convenience and expediency may be called Mrs. Harris, walked down to her husband's office this morning. She found the door ajar, and was about to enter, when she heard her husband say to some one within:

"Maud's got a splendid leg on her, you bet."

This remark interested Mrs. Harris. Her name is not Maud. She determined to stay where she was and listen. Harris went on talking in a confidential tone, and was evidently telling all he knew.

"Ever feel of 'em?" said the man Harris was talking with.

Oh, yes. Lots of times. Felt her all over. I never saw such limbs. They are just perfect. And so clean, too."

"Does she mind being handled?" asked the man.

"Oh, no," said Harris, "she rather likes it. I never saw such a fine skin as she has," he continued. "And her movement is superb."

Mrs. Harris gasped for breath. Still she clung to the door and listened.

"How long since you've seen her?," asked the man.

"Last month, in Sacramento. She's coming up here for the Fair, and I'm going to put my money on her," said Harris, enthusiastically.

"Oh, you wretch!" shrieked Mrs. Harris, as she burst into the room. "You beast! You're a nice hus-hus-husband." she sobbed. "I've heard you tell of your shameful doings. I'll-I'll get a di-di-vorce, and then you can marry your Mau-au-au-d!"

Harris and the other man, to her great astonishment, set up a roar of laughter. At last Harris mustered breath enough to say:

"Why, you silly goose, we were talking about a horse."

"A hor-se?," gasped the excited lady. "Yes," said Harris, "a race horse. A mare."

Mrs. Harris suddenly realized that she had made a fool of herself, and rushed away homeward. The next time she goes to her husband's office, she will not be likely to listen at the door.

PERSONAL.

M. J. Curtis is back from Candelaria.

General Clarke arrived from Winnemucca last night.

Frank Murphy, of the Buffalo Salt Works, is in town.

R. P. Ferguson, of Boca, went to Eureka last night.

James O. Shinn, of the Susanville Mountain Review, is dead.

Mr. Soderberg of Carson is in attendance upon the District Court.

H. W. Higgins returned home this morning. Miss Alice is at Monterey.

Richmond Smith, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s agent, is in San Francisco. He is visiting a physician.

Prof. J. G. Lemmon of Oakland, the well known naturalist, is in town. He is traveling as a special correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin, and will remain here a few days, investigating the extent of the damages done by the locusts.

Irresistible Attractions.

Cole's circus was in Eureka when the great fire came on Tuesday, destroying one-half the town. Many persons who had lost everything in the flames attended the evening performance. The circus tent was crowded. The houseless and homeless willingly paid to see "the greatest show on earth."

The "Weekly Gazette."

No better paper will be issued today from any press in this State than the Reno Weekly GAZETTE. It is a double sheet, making eight pages, and contains all the reading matter that has been in the daily for a week. It is printed on nice paper and is deservedly popular with its vast number of readers.

The New Bank Project.

It is probable that the Eureka fire will effect unfavorably the project for a new bank in Reno. Paxton & Co. will find use for a great deal of capital in Eureka while rebuilding is going on, and may not have sufficient to spare to go into banking here.

Armed to the Teeth is a very common expression, but we think that armed to embellish and preserve them to a ripe old age is decidedly more appropriate This can be done by keeping yourself supplied with a bottle of that splendid dentifrice, Fragrant SOZODONT, which will beautify the teeth and preserve them from the ravages of decay. SOZODONT contains no acids or gritty substances which injure the enamel but is composed of rare and antiseptic herbs, which have a beneficial effect on the whole economy of the mouth. 8-1-1m D&W

DR. W. J. COLLIER—Dear Sir: I have had one application of your Spirit Panacea for headache, and was agreeably surprised to find the relief immediate and permanent. I believe it an excellent remedy.

W. H. YOUNG.

RENO, Nev., June 25, 1880.

DR. W. J. COLLIER: I consider your Spirit Panacea an excellent remedy for headache. A few days ago I was suffering severely from that complaint, and was relieved by a single application. I have had no headache since.

JAMES THOMPSON.

RENO, June 25, 1880.

DR. W. J. COLLIER: I have used your Spirit Panacea in my family for the past two years, and have been personally cognizant of its use by several others. As a local application for pain I consider it a most excellent remedy. I agree with you that "every family should have it." R. P. M. KELLY, Nurseryman.

Estray Notice.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT ON or about the 6th day of July, 1880, two estray horses came upon my ranch near Mud Lake Slough, about twenty miles northerly from Wadsworth, in the County of Washoe, State of Nevada, and that the said horses were upon said day taken up, and are now held by me for keeping as estrays. That the same have been duly reported by me to the Justice of the Peace of Reno Township in said County, the nearest Justice, according to law, and have been duly appraised by appraisers appointed by said Justice of the Peace, described and valued as follows: One sorrel horse about 8 years old, stocking legged, with hat brand and figures 46 branded on the left hip; appraised at $15. The other a yellow horse, about four or five years old, with star on forehead, marked with said hat brand and J G branded on left hip, and appraised at $ 0. The owner or owners of said property are hereby notified to come, prove property, pay all charges against the same, and take them away within six months from date hereof or he or they shall forfeit all right, title and claim thereto, and the same shall vest in the taker up, the undersigned, according to law. REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

Following is the text of the resolutions adopted by the Republican National Convention on Saturday, June 5, 1880:

Republican rule has restored upon a solid basis payment in coin for all the national obligations, and has given us a currency absolutely good and legal, and equal in every part of our extended country. It has lifted the credit of the nation from the point where six per cent bonds sold at 86, to that where four per cent bonds are eagerly sought at a premium. Under its administration railways have increased from 21,000 miles in 1860 to more than 82,000 miles in 1879. Our foreign trade has increased from $700,000,000 to $1,250,000,000 in the same time, and our exports, which were $20,000,000 less than our imports in 1860, were $264,000,000 more than our imports in 1870. Without resorting to loans it has, since the war closed, defrayed the ordinary expenses of government, besides the accruing interest on the public debt, and disbursed annually more than $30,000,000 for soldiers' pensions. It has paid $880,000,000 of the public debt, and by refunding the balance at lower rates, has reduced the annual intercst charge from nearly $151,000,000 to less than $29,000,000. All the industries of the country have revived; labor is in demand; wages have increased, and throughout the entire country there is evidence of a coming prosperity greater than we have ever enjoyed. Upon this record the Republican party asks for the continued confidence and support of the people, and this convention submits for their approval the following statements of the principles and purposes which will continue to guide and inspire its efforts:

ENUMERATION OF PRINCIPLES.

First. We affirm that the work of the last twenty-one years has been such as to commend itself to the favor of the nation, and that the fruits of the costly victories which we have achieved through immense difficulties should be preserved. That the peace regained should be cherished. That the dissevered Union, now happily restored, should be perpetuated, and that the liberties secured to this generation should be transmitted undiminished to future generations. That the order established and the credit acquired should never be imperiled. That the pensions promised should be paid. That the debt so much reduced should be extinguished by the full payment of every dollar thereof. That the reviving industries should be further promoted, and that the commerce already so great should be steadily encouraged.

Second. The Constitution of the United States is the supreme law, and not a mere compact. Out of the confederated States it made a sovereign nation. Some powers are denied to the nation, while others are retained by the States; but the boundary between the powers delegated and those reserved is to be determined by national and not by State tribunals.

Third. The work of popular education is one left to the care of the several States, but it is the duty of the national government to aid that work to the extent of its constitutional ability. The intelligence of the nation is but the aggregate of the intelligence in the several States, and the destiny of the nation must be guided, not by the genius of any one State, but by the average genius of all.

NON-SECTARIAN SCHOOLS.

Fourth. The constitution wisely forbids Congress to make any laws respecting an establishment of religion, but it is idle to hope that the nation can be protected against the influence of sectarianism while each State is exposed to its particular domination. We therefore recommend that the constitution be so amended as to lay some prohibition upon the Legislature of each State, and to forbid the appropriation of public funds to the support of sectarian schools.

Fifth. We reaffirm the belief avowed in 1876, that the duties levied for the purpose of revenue should be so discriminate as to favor American labor. That no further grant of the public domain should be made to any railroad or other corporation. That slavery having perished in the states, its twin barbarity, polygamy, must die in the Territories. That everywhere the protection accorded to a citizen of American birth must be secured to citizens of American adoption. That it is the duty of Congress to develop and improve our water-courses and harbors, but we insist that further subsidies to private persons or corporations must cease. That the obligations to the men who preserved its integrity in the day of battle are undiminished by the lapse of fifteen years since their final victory. Their perpetual honor is and shall forever be the grateful privilege and the sacred duty of the American people.

THE CHINESE PLANK

Sixth. Since the authority to regulate immigration and intercourse between the United States and foreign nations rests with the Congress of the United States and the treaty-making powers, that the Republican party, regarding the unrestricted immigration of the Chinese a matter of grave concernment and under the exercise of both these powers would limit and restrict that immigration by the enactment of such just, humane and reasonable laws and treaties as will produce that result.

Seventh. That the purity and patriotism which characterized the earlier career of Rutherford B. Hayes in peace and war, and which guided the thought of his immediate predecessor to him for a Presidential candidate, have continued to inspire him in his career as chief executive, and that history will accord to his administration the honors which are due to an efficient, just and courageous fulfillment of the public business, and will honor his interposition between the people and proposed partisan laws.

INIQUITIES OF THE DEMOCRACY.

Eighth. We charge upon the Democratic party the habitual sacrifice of justice and patriotism to a supreme and insatiable lust for office and patronage; that to obtain possession of the national and state governments and of the control of place and position, they have obstructed all the efforts to preserve the purity and conserve the freedom of suffrage; have devised fraudulent certificates and returns; have labored to unseat lawfully elected members of Congress, to secure at all hazards the vote of the majority of states in the House of Representatives; have endeavored to occupy by force and fraud places of trust given to others by the people of Maine, and rescued by the courage and action of Maine's patriotic sons; have by methods vicious in principle and tyrannical in practice, attached partisan legislation to appropriation bills; have crushed the rights of individuals, and vindicated the principles and sought the favor of rebellion against the nation, and have endeavored to obliterate the sacred memories of the war and to overcome its inestimable good results—freedom and individual equality. We affirm it to be the duty and purpose of the Republican party to use all the legitimate means of this Union to secure the perfect harmony which may be practicable, and we submit to the practical, sensible people of the United State to say whether it would not be dangerous to the best interests of our country at this time to surrender the administration of the national government to a party which seeks to overthrow the existing policy under which we are so prosperous, and thus bring destruction and confusion where there is now order, confidence and hope.

Casimiro Fazzi, plaintiff, vs. Francisco Valenzuela, defendant.

Under and by virtue of an execution issued in the above cause and out of above Court on the 26th day of June, A. D. 1880, duly tested, and to me directed and delivered, on a judgment recovered by the above named plaintiff, and against the above named defendant, on the 26th day of June, 1880, for the sum of $580 67 and interest thereon at the rate of 10 per cent per annum until paid; besides for his costs, now amounting to $128 30, and accruing costs, I have on the 22d day of July, 1880, levied upon: Thirty-five (35), more or less, tons of loose hay in the stack, and one stack of wheat, containing about two tons when threshed, and I hereby give public notice, as required by law, that on Monday, the 23d day of August, 1880,

Between the hours of 9 o'clock A. M. and 5 o'clk P. M., to wit: at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day, on the ranch formerly known as the Lagomarsino ranch, about one mile south of Stearsboat Springs, Washoe County, Nevada, I will sell at public auction to the highest and best bidder for cash in hand, the above described personal property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy this writ of execution.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS:

R. H. TAYLOR, : : : : STOREY
O. H. GREY, : : : WHITE PINE
A. E. MORTON, : : ESMERALDA

FOR JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT:

WILLIAM H. BEATTY.

FOR CONGRESS:

ROLLIN M. DAGGETT.

Resolutions Adopted by the Republican State Convention:

RESOLVED, That the platform of principles adopted by the National Republican Convention, at Chicago June last, deserves and receives the approval and hearty indorsement of all the Republicans of Nevada.

RESOLVED, That the hordes of Chinese that are coming in upon our shores to eat out our substance are destroying our country, impoverishing our mines, mining and laborers, debauching our youth, and making both men and women lower in the scale of humanity. This evil must and shall be stopped, and to this end we pledge the entire strength of the Republican party.

In the language of our great leader, we regard the immigration of Asiatics to the United States as little less than a servile invasion. Should the Commissioners now in negotiation with the Chinese Government fail to secure by the first of next January such modification of the Burlingame Treaty as will practically put an end to the influx of Chinese to this country, we demand that the treaty then be promptly annulled, and such laws enacted as will relieve us at once and forever of the Asiatic scourge now menacing the well-being of the Republic.

RESOLVED, That we most heartily indorse the general financial policy of the Republican party, which, in spite of every opposition on the part of the Democracy, has led to the resumption of specie payments, the raising of our national credit to a height never before known, and to the restoration of a national prosperity. But we also demand the complete restoration of silver coin to its former position by the side of gold; and for the purpose of attaining that end we hold it to be the duty of the General Government, through the authorization of Congress, to coin into standard dollars or other legal tender currency, as the cost of coinage, and for the benefit of the producer, the entire silver product of the country, relieving the mining industry from the loss attending the shipment to and sale of silver bullion in foreign markets.

As mining for the precious metals is the leading industry of Nevada, we are inflexibly opposed to the bill reported by the Committee on Mines and Mining, and now before the House of Representatives, prohibiting the following of fissure veins or deposits beyond the vertical lines of surface boundaries; and we urge our Representatives in both Houses of Congress to continue their efforts for its defeat. Such a restriction would work disaster to the labors of the prospector, and seriously retard the development of the mineral riches of the West, and we cordially indorse the action of our Representative, the Hon. R. M. Daggett, in this behalf.

RESOLVED, That the Republican party claims it to be the right and duty of State and Territorial Legislatures to regulate and restrict the charges of railroads exclusively within their respective boundaries, and that it is no less the constitutional right than the positive duty of Congress to regulate the tariffs and restrict the charges of inter-State railroads.

RESOLVED, That while we congratulate the country on the successful resumption of specie payments, and the splendid financial condition of the Republic, we are in favor of restricting the issuance of National and State legal tender notes, to denominations of not less than five dollars, thus creating an increased home demand, as a circulating medium, for the precious metals which our mines are annually yielding.

RESOLVED, That Gen. James A. Garfield and Chester A. Arthur, by their services to the country, by their devotion to principle, and by their unspotted reputation as men and as citizens, are deserving of the united and earnest support of all the loyal people of the United States for President and Vice President thereof. We rejoice in their nomination, and we pledge to them the electoral vote of Nevada at the ensuing election, by an overwhelming majority.

Treat all Chronic and Special Diseases

YOUNG MEN

WHO MAY BE SUFFERING FROM the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the alter of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty and sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposite a ropy sediment will often be found, and some small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

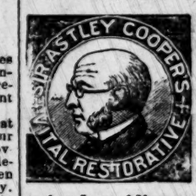

Office Hours—10 to 4 and 6 to 8. Sundays from 10 to 11 A. M. Consultation Free. Thorough examination and advice $5.

P. S. For private diseases of short standing a full course of medicines sufficient for a cure, with necessary instructions, will be sent to any address on receipt of Ten Dollars.
